COUNCIL COLUMN

Where does all the money go?

Have you ever wondered where all the money the city collects from real-estate, personnel property, sales, food and lodging tax goes?

This year City Council approved the FY14-15 city budget which was approximately $75 million dollars.

I'm sure your first thoughts are...wow, that is a lot of money! Is it? The overall funding of $75 million dollars can be misleading, so let me help explain.

The City's budget can be broken into five colors of money, or in other words, five separate funds. Each fund represents a specific purpose in operating and supporting our city, which has a population of approximately 17,000 people. The overall budget is constructed by the City Manager and his staff using a "zero based" budgeting approach. This approach requires senior leaders throughout the city government, including department heads and city council, to review and provide input on new and existing programs, operations and services for the city. Departments start their individual budgets at zero dollars and add programs/services that they feel are necessary for its operation in the upcoming year. In formulating the budget, city leaders must take into consideration the projected estimated revenue that should be generated throughout the fiscal year.

What are those five funds and how are they funded?

General Fund- the cost associated with running the day to day operations of the city. Expenses such as salaries of city employees, services provided by the fire and police department, building maintenance, service vehicles, etc. Funds to support the General Fund come mainly from taxes which include – personal property, real-estate, food, lodging and retail sales. However, it is important to note; the total revenue generated from these taxes is not available for the city general fund. Currently, 50.7% of the total amount collected is given to the Colonial Heights School system for their budget. Therefore, 49.3% ($33.6 million) from the general fund revenue is available to be used in the operation of the city budget.

School Fund- the cost and expenditures associated with the operation and service of the school system. The city transfers 50.7% of the revenue collected from personal property, real-estate, food, lodging and retail sales to the School system, who then manages and maintains their own operating budget. This is a unique agreement between City Council and the School Board. Other funding received by the school system comes from state and federal sources. The city portion to the School Fund is $36.3 million.

Recreation Fund- the costs associated with running athletic leagues (such as football, basketball etc.), community events, youth sports programs, adult classes (such as art, dance) etc. The majority of funds to support the Recreation Fund comes from fees charged to participate in any of the programs. The budget for the Recreation Fund is $0.17 million.

The next two funds are often referred to as Enterprise Funds. In other words, they are funds that are self-supporting and are not subsidized by tax payer's dollars. These funds are supported solely by participating residents only and the cost of the service is paid 100% by participants.

Stormwater Management Fund- the cost associated with services and programs (some being mandated by state and federal agencies) to properly channel and protect properties from stormwater "runoff" resulting from rain and melting snow. These services and programs are funded through a flat rate and is assessed on a homeowner's bi-monthly utility bill. The budget for Stormwater Management Fund is $0.55 million.

Water and Sewer Fund- the cost associated with providing water and sewer to residents and businesses throughout the city. Funds to cover these services are directly tied to usage and are applied to each residence or business on their bi-monthly utility bill. To ensure this fund is self-supporting, there are times when rate adjustments are required to offset unexpected costs (e.g. replacing water lines) associated with providing a high level service to our residents. The budget for this fund is $4.4 million.

The Annual Budget development process begins in January of each year and culminates with presentation of the proposed annual budget to City Council in April. Then, over the next couple of weeks, City Council conducts public work sessions that are open to the public. I strongly encourage you to get involved in this process!

The Colonial Heights Public Library will be offering its winter/spring story time sessions and each session includes stories, music, lots of movement and a craft. Story hours are a wonderful way for children to gain important prereading skills, learn to socialize with other children, and to begin a lifelong love of books and reading.

CLEVER CANINES

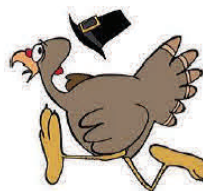

Grades 2-4

You can sign your child up to read to a therapy dog during a 15 minute individual session. Research shows that children who are learning to read feel more relaxed and less self-conscious when reading to dogs. This program aims to improve reading skills, nurture a lifelong love of reading, and help children build bonds with dogs. All dog and owner teams have successfully completed the AKC's Canine Good Citizen Test and the Therapy Dogs Incorporated Test and regularly visit nursing homes and assisted living facilities. Register at the library beginning two weeks prior to each date. Please call Chantal Emerson at 804-520-9384 with any questions.
